

Leibniz Universität Hannover

The 9 faculties of Leibniz Universität Hannover offer more than 150 degrees to its approx. 27,000 students. Examples are: Life Sciences, Systems Design, Biomedicine, and Production and Logistics. These studies are offered by a few number of German universities only.

Further information about the Leibniz Universität Hannover can be found at: www.uni-hannover.de

Internationality

Students from more than 120 different countries make up 11% (that's about 3,000) of the student body at Leibniz Universität Hannover. The successful ERASMUS program enables approx. 350 students from over 150 partner universities to study in Hannover each year. Faculties and institutes maintain contact to 1,100 scholarly institutions around the world. The most important countries for the exchange programmes are the USA, Great Britain, South Korea, Poland, Spain, and France. The before mentioned attributes contribute to the international popularity of Leibniz Universität Hannover.

Hannover

Hannover is the Capital of Lower Saxony and is situated in Northwestern Germany. Hannover has a population of over half a million. It is a centre for studies and instructions as Leibniz Universität is just one of five universities in the city. This contributes to the young and lively atmosphere in the city. There are a lot of things to do in Hannover, the greenest bigger city in Germany: for example exploring the world famous Royal Gardens of Herrenhausen, a walk around the lake Maschsee, a hike in the urban forest „Eilenriede“, or a visit to numerous museums and galleries. Hannover has something to offer to everybody.
