

BALATON SUMMER SCHOOL – UNIVERSITY OF PANNONIA

We have the great pleasure to present a program organized by the University of Pannonia, Veszprém, Hungary shortly before the starting of the academic year 2013/2014. Students coming to our university as in-bound Erasmus mobility could take an advantage of getting familiarized with the Hungarian environment, culture and traditions in a most pleasant setting of the city of Veszprém and Lake Balaton. Not only Erasmus students, but all international visitors are welcome in the program, so we would be very happy to welcome anyone who is interested in participating.

The official language of the Summer University is English.

Our University would like to draw your attention to an exciting course called Summer University Balaton 2013 to be held between 19-25 August, which will be organized in Veszprém against an international setting. As you will see from the webpage provided below, the course proposes to widen the horizons of the participants in the framework of non-formal education, which breaks with traditional classroom teaching in order to focus on small groups, interactive research, and practice-oriented learning. In addition, it intends to introduce participants to the scientific and cultural features of Lake Balaton and its environs.

Areas examined during the program: limnology, viniculture and winery, environmental protection, cultural studies, ethnography, art history, tourism and social studies.

Our aim is to bring together enthusiastic participants in an intellectually stimulating learning environment.

It would be nice to welcome you and any of your acquaintances among our participants.

For further details please contact Dr. Forintos Éva associate professor, co-organiser: forintos@almos.uni-pannon.hu

<http://universitas.uni-pannon.hu/>

<http://www.mftk.uni-pannon.hu/>